

Arrest Report Denounced by Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he opposes any policy which would enable a law enforcement officer to make an arrest for promotion or gain.

Faubus made the statement at a news conference when asked about reports that some State Police officers were making arrests in the belief they could win promotion that way.

The governor said he had heard such a report.

He said he checked on the matter with State Police Director Herman Lindsey, who replied that this policy was dropped when the Faubus administration came into office.

Faubus has been in office five years.

"I think that if a patrolman can go into an area and his public relations with the people can be such that he wouldn't have to issue any tickets at all, he would be doing a good job," Faubus said.

He added that he knew of a place where a state trooper "goes around with the teenagers and now he doesn't have to go around harassing them any more and giving them tickets." Faubus did not name the place.

Summing up, the governor said, "I don't want a ticket handed out by any patrolman as a means of making a record. I don't want anyone to get a ticket unless he deserves it."

Recently Mrs. Faubus was a passenger in an automobile which was stopped for speeding at Hamburg. Another woman was driving.

"You haven't heard any complaints from me or my family about the situation at Hamburg," Faubus said.

Many Probes Planned by Congress

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign affairs, defense policy, television, outer space, drug prices and boxing are among the subjects for congressional investigation this year.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is scheduled to undertake one of the most exhaustive studies of U.S. foreign affairs in years. Top government officials and outside experts will be called as witnesses in hearings that will begin early in the session.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee has two big hearings on air. One will be a continuation of its investigation of drug prices, with tranquilizers coming under scrutiny next, probably late this month.

The other will deal with alleged underworld infiltration of professional boxing.

Defense policy, including U.S. missile programs, is due for sweeping investigation in both houses. The Senate Space Committee and the House Science and Astronautics Committee have scheduled parallel hearings on all phases of the subject. The House Armed Services Committee will concentrate on the armed forces.

Foreign trade will be the subject of prolonged hearings by the Senate Commerce Committee. These will explore the basic position of the United States in the competition for world markets.

The Commerce Committee is also planning to take a look at the television industry to see whether it has cleaned up the practices uncovered in last session's investigation of quiz shows.

The House Legislative Oversight Committee, which hit the headline jackpot with those TV quiz findings, is moving into the field of bryony—or undercover payments for favors—in this session.

FIRE WARDEN—Missiles like the one above may one day stand guard at airports and forest stations. Called "Firefly," the proposed vehicle would be placed on a launcher and shielded with a collapsible plastic cover. On signal from a tower operator, rockets would blast it into the air. It would then glide like an airplane to the site of the blaze where helicopter rotors would unfold from its tail. Hovering over the fire, sensing devices could direct more than a ton of extinguishing fluid. Designed by Solar Aircraft, Firefly would be about 16 feet long and weigh 5,000 pounds. It could cover five miles in 40 seconds over terrain inaccessible to conventional equipment.

FLYING FIRE FIGHTER—What is part rocket missile, part airplane, part helicopter and carries a fire extinguisher in its nose? The answer is "Firefly," a proposed missile that one day may take the place of fire trucks and helicopters at airports and remote areas. Launched like a rocket, gliding like a plane and hovering like a helicopter, Firefly could be rushed to the scene of a downed aircraft, as in drawing above, carrying more than a ton of extinguishing fluid. It would be guided by remote control and have sensing devices to tell the exact location and severity of a blaze. Firefly was designed by Solar Aircraft Co. of San Diego, Calif.

Ford, which has sold more station wagons than any other company, today announced the new Falcon station wagon as the latest addition to the economy car field. The two- and four-door station wagons, like the sedans, are powered with the 90-horsepower Falcon engine that gives 50-per cent better mileage than six-cylinder engines in standard sized cars. The Falcon station wagon has the longest cargo space and greatest load floor area in its class, as well as the lowest tailgate floor loading height in the industry.

Channel Change Aid Asked by Long

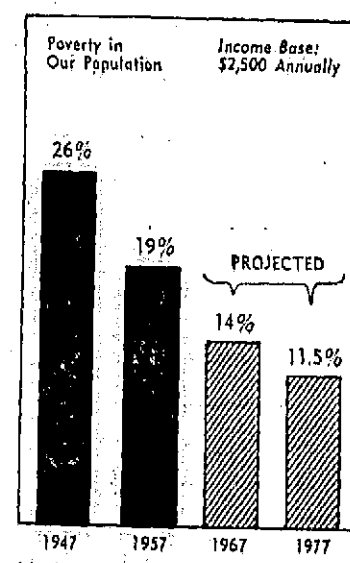

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) proposed today that Army Engineers be authorized to dredge and maintain navigation channels near various lower Mississippi River cities from which the river has moved away.

Long said he plans to introduce a bill to give the engineers the authority they need.

The channel he said has moved away from various cities including Lake Providence, La., Helena, Ark., and New Madrid, Mo.

Most of these areas, he said, have sought to maintain a small navigation channel or chute.

His bill, he said would allow engineers to dredge and maintain these chutes.

Refuses to Slash KCS Assessments

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Commerce Commission today refused to cut the 1960 assessment of Kansas City Southern Railway Co. from $4,780,000.

The figure had been set by the Arkansas Assessment Co-ordination Division and was based on an evaluation of nearly 24 million dollars worth of Kansas City Southern property in this state.

In its appeal to the Commerce Commission, the railroad argued that it was entitled to a reduction of $750,000. But the commission decided the amount fixed by the Assessment agency was neither erroneous nor arbitrary.

Kansas City Southern has fought its assessment each year since 1954. Once it unsuccessfully carried an assessment protest all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

California Plans Special Session

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown will call a special legislative session in March to consider drug and education problems, the governor, a Democrat, told a state-wide radio-television audience Tuesday night.

That, among other things, he would propose installation of anti-smog auto exhaust devices to clean up California air.

Only the southern fringe of Arkansas was clear of snow, the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

The big fall was the first general snow of the season for Arkansas. Weathermen estimated that the Rock's total yesterday at 10.9 inches, the heaviest since 1922.

Central Arkansas bore the brunt of the snowfall. Most areas in that section saw an estimated seven inches. This compares to an average annual snowfall of 3 1/2 inches for the section.

In some portions of the state, much of the snow melted as quickly as it fell.

Some utility services were disrupted temporarily but there was no disastrous failure in power, gas or telephone service anywhere.

Minimum temperatures today ranged from 28 at Fayetteville to 32 at El Dorado.

Two colleges, Ouachita Baptist at Arkadelphia and Little Rock University, suspended classes today.

Issues Ahead for the 86th Congress

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second session of the Democratic-controlled 86th Congress, starting today, has a lot of issues to face. Here are some of the main ones:

CIVIL RIGHTS—Likely to churn up longest, bitterest battle of election-year session. Key proposals involve Negro voting rights and school integration. Northern and Southern Democrats sharply split. Showdown in Senate due in mid-February.

SCHOOL AID—Democrats pushing for far bigger federal outlays for school construction than administration has asked. Bill on Senate calendar would appropriate 500 million dollars a year for two years on matching basis.

MINIMUM WAGE—Efforts to boost minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour face administration opposition. So do proposals for greatly broadened coverage of workers. Administration can count on support of some Southern Democrats.

INTEREST RATES—President Eisenhower expected to renew a fight he lost last year for lifting 4 per cent interest ceiling on long-term government bonds. Democrats call it scheme to enrich bankers. Republicans an anti-inflation step.

HOUSING—Emergency billion-dollar housing bill urged by House Democrats to spur sagging home construction. Eisenhower vetoed two housing bills last year as inflationary, finally accepted a third scaled-down measure.

FARM—Administration and Democrats at loggerheads over price support levels and acreage

Chance Good, Says Bennett on Politics

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett today looked into his political crystal ball and said preliminary reports on his chances for Arkansas governorship were "most encouraging."

Bennett, long considered a probable gubernatorial candidate in this summer's Democratic primaries, indicated strongly to newsmen that he plans to run whether or not Gov. Orval E. Faubus seeks a fourth term.

"When I ran for prosecuting attorney and attorney general I did not consider who else might be in the race before making up my mind," Bennett said.

In the last year or two, Bennett has made headlines several times through his war on the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

He is the author of several anti-NAACP pieces of legislation and drew up the now famous "Bennett ordinance" aimed at requiring certain organizations to reveal membership and financial data or face legal penalties.

A dozen Arkansas cities, including Little Rock, adopted these ordinances.

Bennett said he has been making a survey about his chances of reaching the governor's chair. He said the main campaign issue this year still will revolve around integration problems.

Another issue will be the question of the best way to stop the state's population loss, he said. And a third issue will turn on who has the best program for creating a political climate which would attract new industries to Arkansas.

Bennett disclaimed any interest in running for the U.S. Senate this year. Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) has not announced whether he will seek re-election.

The attorney general said that "whatever happens, I don't intend to see this state turned over to the scalawags and the NAACP."

He remarked: "The first political fact of life is this — you can't be elected unless you get your name on the ticket."

Man, Wife Held for Six Holdups

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Silas O. Varner, 35, and his wife, Nina, 34, of Beebe, White County, have been held for Circuit Court in connection with six holdups that netted more than $2300.

They pleaded innocent but waived preliminary hearing in North Little Rock Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Milton McLees fixed bond for each at $6,000.

The robbery counts were lodged for holdups here of four drug stores, a liquor store and a food market.

Varner was accused as the robber. Mrs. Varner, as an accomplice.

Farm Worker Is Shot to Death

DEWITT, Ark. (AP)—Police reported that a farm worker was shot to death in his home near Crockett, Bluff last night and his stepson was taken into custody.

Arkansas County Deputy Sheriff Paul Vanderford said James E. Bullock, 44, was struck by six bullets fired from a .22 caliber rifle.

Vanderford said Paul Flowers, 23, the stepson, was jailed at DeWitt on an open charge.

"The officer said Flowers surrendered at the police station here about an hour after the shooting," Flowers was quoted as saying the shooting resulted from a family argument.

Vanderford said Bullock and his wife, Flowers, his wife and their five children and another stepson of Bullock lived in the same house.

The deputy said apparently all except the children were in the living room when the shooting occurred there.

Harris Wants More Drastic Measures

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Owen Harris of Arkansas, chairman of the House committee which has investigated the quiz show scandals, believes more drastic proposals than those suggested by the Justice Department may be needed to deal with payola and fraudulent radio-TV programs.
Atty Gen. William Rogers, in a recent report to President Eisenhower, said regulatory agencies haven't used their full authority to combat improper practices.
Rogers recommended also that Congress make it a federal crime for a broadcast industry employee to be involved in undercover payments to promote persons or products and that the Federal Communications Commission be given greater flexibility in penalty sanc-more details.

Before Congress convened there was a hint that perhaps the President is a little sensitive to prospective criticism of the gap between U. S. and Soviet missile progress.

In a brief informal talk to officials of his church—the National Presbyterian — Eisenhower cautioned Americans against becoming too hysterical about Soviet achievements in outer space.

Party leaders already have set a tentative adjournment date—July 4, a week before the Democratic national convention starts in Los Angeles and three weeks before the Republicans gather in Chicago.

The annual cry for economy came from Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

"The budget goes up and up every year," complained Cannon Tuesday night. "The interest on the national debt goes up and up. Wartime tax rates are kept in effect and there is no hope or expectation of cutting taxes."

"I am very much disappointed at the size of the budget (about $11 billion dollars). It must be cut."

Minor housekeeping details will occupy today's Senate and House sessions. On hand to succeed the late William Langer (R-ND) in the Senate is another Republican, former Gov. Norman Brunsdale. In the House, Republican John Kyl of Iowa succeeds the late Steven Carter, a Democrat.

When they are sworn in, the Democratic majority will be 65 to 35 in the Senate and 280 to 133 in the House. There will be four House vacancies.

President Eisenhower delivers his annual State of the Union message Thursday to a joint session. He is expected to stress the "peace and prosperity" theme already adopted by the GOP as its 1960 campaign slogan.

Since this is a continuation of last year's Congress, the 1959 organization carries over, along with some 12,000 bills and resolutions not acted on in the last session.

No Survivors

a number of the victims were clad in Mae West life preservers. The life preservers on some had been inflated.

A piece of the wing and most of the ripped fuselage fell in a field, while the cockpit struck in woods 50 yards away.

The plane crashed on the small farm of Richard Randolph. His wife, Letzie, was awakened by the noise and she awakened her husband.

"We heard an engine going chug-a-chug," he said, "like it was cutting in and out. Then it sounded like tin doors and windows ripping off. Then there was a big boom like dynamite."

Randolph arose and looked out the window. He could see nothing but a small flame which soon went out. He returned to bed.

Early this morning their small son, McArthur, went to the field to see what happened and found the plane. The Negro farmer drove to Bolivia, the nearest town, and an operator connected him with New Hanover Airfield at Wilmington. He then waited in Bolivia until highway patrolmen arrived about 7:36 a. m., and guided them to the scene.

Emergency and rescue vehicles rushed to the scene. A light rain fell as rescuers searched for bodies.

A number of bodies lay among scattered luggage and pieces of the ship.

Lester L. Edwards, a forest ranger, said it appeared to him that the plane might have exploded in flight. This opinion was reported also by Doyle Howard, a reporter on the scene from The Wilmington News.

The FBI sent its special disaster squad to the scene. This was requested by Charles Sharp, National's vice president. The squad of three fingerprint experts has identified more than 80 per cent of the victims of airliner crashes it has investigated.

The flight plan called for the plane to hug the coast on the leg from New York to Wilmington, then to swing out to sea for the overwater leg to Palm Beach.

Weather conditions were to dictate when the plane was to turn over the Atlantic.

Clouds and rain lay in the plane's route as it passed Wilmington. But, said a spokesman, the big coach should have found clearing skies south of Wilmington. Airlines officials said the craft had enough gasoline to remain aloft until 7:06 a. m. It was due at Miami at 4:36 a. m. It had left New York at 11:52 p. m.

Word that the plane was missing touched off a widespread search along the coast.

A NAL plane less than two months ago crashed into the Gulf of Mexico, killing 42 persons aboard. It was on a flight from Miami to New Orleans. Most of the bodies and wreckage remain unrecovered.

Conditions against offending broadcasters.

Harris said in an interview that he found no fault with Rogers' second point, but of the first one — concerned with payola — he had this to say:

"It seems to me this just doesn't satisfy the requirements. If we're going to get rid of deception and corruption... the statutes should be broadened to cover everyone involved."

Important points to watch for in the new spring coat fashions are width at shoulder and sleeve, wide or collarless necklines and semi-fit. We show some examples here in coats from this country's top designers. Camel-hair coat (left) is double-breasted, has shoulder, sleeve and body width. Collar is fairly high and notched in this Original design. The white coat is all important this spring. This one (center) by Harry Frechtel is a slim white, lacy wool with wide, flat collar of leopard. Sash-belted coat (right) is cut with dropped shoulders, pleated back and slip-back collar. This gold mesh wool coat is a Monte-Sano and Pruzan design. The style is very gentle and easy one so that the coat will go easily over other clothes.

DOROTHY DIX

Her Ex-Steady Spreads Gossip

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Three years ago I met this boy who swept me off my feet and, not paying any attention to other people's advice, went steady with him. We broke up a year later. Soon afterward my girl friend said he told her I "gave him anything he wanted." He neglected to say what he wanted. I never did anything I couldn't tell my mother. From then on I received insulting phone calls. At first I joked back. However, when I realized that this boy must have something to do with it, I hung up.

Since I started high school, my ideas on kissing changed. I learned it is expected of you. As any girl would, I like it. However, I know when to draw the line.

Is going out with boys really going to make my reputation worse than it is? I am 15 but mature for my age. It will take a lot of will power to stay home, but if that's what has to be done to calm down my reputation, I'll do it. — B. E. G.

Dear B. E. G.: Pay no attention to rumors spread by your ex-steady. But, no matter how blameless you are, he'll really have something to talk about unless you quit the promiscuous kissing and dating. Exercise that will power and stay home for awhile. If the anonymous calls continue, perhaps your mother could have the telephone number changed.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

You write that going steady is like being engaged. Well, I've got news for you. These two things are completely different and it is wrong to get them confused. Going steady is just showing that a boy thinks enough of you to want you to be his steady date. It does not mean that he is going to rush the girl to the altar. You really are trying to kill this fad, aren't you? After some parents read that, their daughters won't be allowed to keep the rings. — MAD.

Dear Mad: Going steady and being engaged follow the same pattern with this difference: Going steady is a preliminary, as it were; therefore less formal. Too, the kids can break off without loss of face.

However, most of those I've known took the relationship seriously and, in quite a few cases, did marry.

Going steady may be a convenience for the girl who would otherwise have to stay at home, but that's a sad situation and should be corrected. No girl need be a wallflower.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am 21 years old, married for three years, and have a boy 20 months old. My husband is good to me and to our child but he never talks to me nor takes us any place. He rides in a car pool with all women and has never introduced us or even as much as showed me any of them. We live with my daddy. My husband thinks because I do things for Daddy, I mistreat him. He never speaks to Daddy.

Before I met my husband I dated a boy in my class in school. My husband and I dated for two years before we married, but now I think of and long to see my old beau. Recently we met in town and both broke down in tears. He is married also, but doesn't have any children. I love him very much. He says he loves me too. He says all we can do is hope and pray to be together some day. Any advice you give me will be deeply appreciated. — R. E.

Dear R. E.: You and your old beau chose different paths in life and in the doing, assumed certain definite responsibilities which you must not shirk. There is no turning back now, sad though your way may seem.

Democrat Says "Thanks"

Mr. Alex. H. Washburn, Publisher Hope Star, Hope, Arkansas

Dear Mr. Washburn:

We have just received the front page of your Dec. 23rd issue from our Hope distributor, Mrs. Thelma Holt.

I was tremendously impressed with your wonderful gesture toward all newspaper boys in your area. I sincerely hope that more and more publishers, as you and Mr. Engel are doing, will come to recognize the important job these young fellows are doing and give them encouragement in their first business venture, at the same time, helping to preserve our "Little Merchant Plan."

For too many years we treated them as "stock in trade," a means of getting our papers delivered, however, we are awakening to realize they mean so much more to us now and in the future. Eight Arkansas Democrat newspaper boys were pictured at your dinner and for each one, may I add my thanks. Sincerely,

V. M. (Bob) Sorrells

The building, a branch of the Helena post office, will be located on the east side of Third street, one-half block south of the Plaza. The government has an option to buy two lots totaling 114X132 feet from W. C. Dinning and W. C. Dinning Jr.

Bids are being asked on a 10-year lease plan with options to renew it for another 25 years. Bidding deadline is March 6.

McGovern to Ask for Re-election

MITCHELL, S.D. (AP)—Rep. George McGovern (D-S.D.), announced today he will be a candidate for the Senate this year. He would thus oppose Sen. Karl Mundt, a Republican serving his second term in the Senate. Mundt has not yet announced his candidacy but is regarded as almost certain to seek re-election.

The Agricultural "Wheel" originated in Taylor County in 1882, as the Watterson Farmers Club, became a national farm organization by 1886, and one of the principal programs was to encourage farmers to raise less cotton, in order to increase the demand and raise the price.

Porkers Down TCU in First SWC Game

DAYTTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks made an audacious Southwest Conference basketball debut last night, tripping defending champion Texas Christian 74-60 behind Clyde Rhoden's 23-point effort.

The lead changed times four times in the first half before the Porkers surged ahead to say at 15-14 on a basket by Rhoden.

The 0-3 junior from Hot Springs, battling back from pointmaking slump, took up scoring slack caused by the absence of Pat Foster from the Razorback lineup. Foster, the team's top scorer this season, is recuperating from an appendectomy. Rhoden was the leading scorer last year but he hasn't been hitting consistently.

TCU still was close at halftime when Arkansas led 33-30 but the Porkers quickly opened up a 13-point bulge and held it without trouble.

The victory put Arkansas' overall record at 6-4. TCU is 3-8.

Ronnie Garner, another Hot Springs Ind., added 19 points to the Razorback total. Tommy Meacham scored 17 points and grabbed 17 rebounds for TCU.

Aggies Make It 9 in Row in Southwest sophomore and a couple of junior enough of this also-ran nonsense in Southwest Conference basketball.

Triggered by a smooth-shooting sophomore and a couple of junior college transfers, they're aiming for their first undisputed conference title in 37 years—and building a national reputation while they're at it.

One of the nation's four major college teams still unbeaten, A&M made it nine in a row Tuesday night with a 68-51 outing of Baylor that launched the official Southwest race.

With Carroll Broussard the touted sophomore and the Stanley twins—Don and Pat—the junior college newcomers, the Aggies earlier established themselves as the team to beat by sweeping through the SWC's annual Christmas tournament.

Broussard had 15 points, Don Stanley 18 and Pat Stanley 13 for Coach Bobby Rogers' 13th ranked Aggies, who have a right good amount of makin' up to go for previous A&M clubs. A&M hasn't been undisputed champ of the Southwest since 1923.

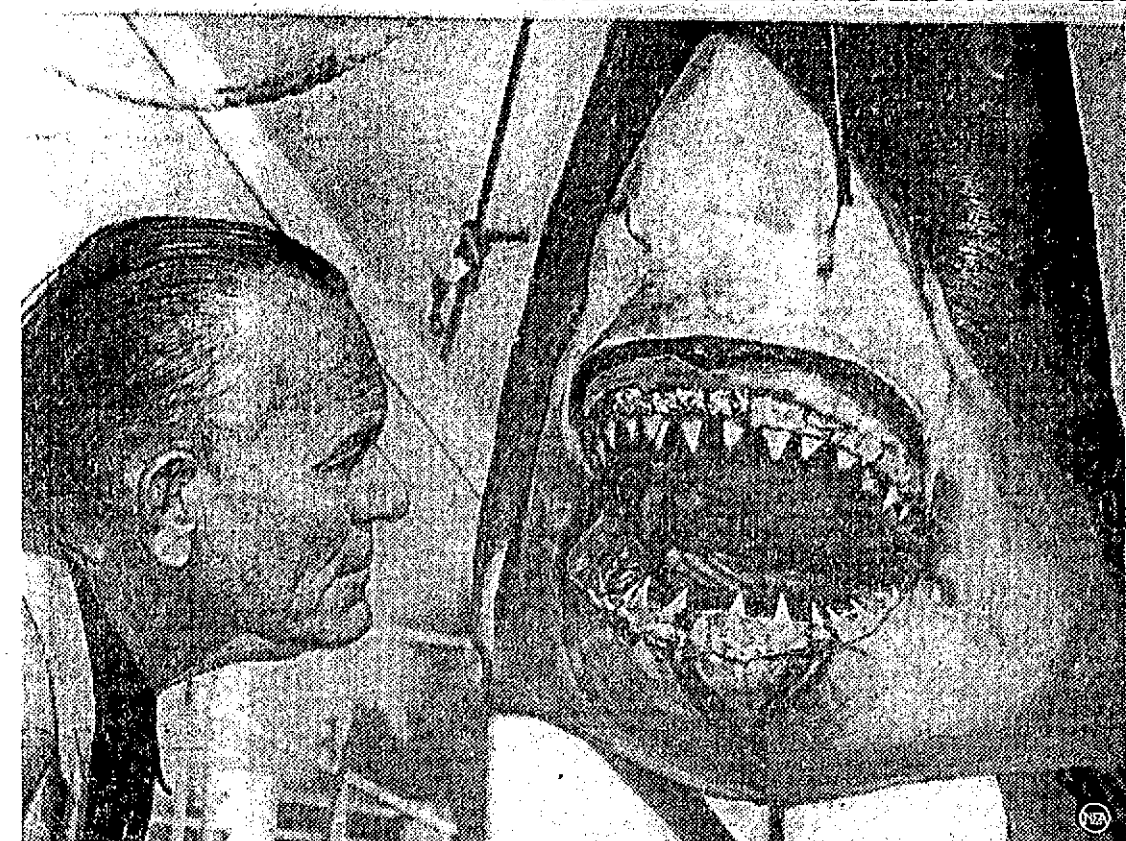

Third-ranked West Virginia and All-American Jerry West got back on the winning and scoring track, and Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats—trying to avoid the Baron's worst season ever—looked considerably revived in Tuesday night's other features.

West Virginia and West, stopped cold by California's great defense in the Los Angeles Classic title game last week, returned to familiar surroundings and whipped Furman 95-79 for the Mounties' 55th consecutive Southern Conference victory and their 38th straight home court triumph.

Kentucky, out of the AP's top 20 rankings for the first time in years, built its record to 7-4 with a 76-59 rout of Vanderbilt at Vandy. Only six teams in coach Rupp's 26 years at Kentucky have lost more than five games in a season.

Virginia, with John Haner leading the way with 19 points, beat North Carolina State 53-48 for the first time since the Atlantic Coast Conference was formed six years ago. Sophomore Keith Stowers scored all four of his points in overtime to give The Citadel a 78-74 decision over Florida State.

Jay Arnette's lay-up with one second left gave Texas a 38-36 Southwest loop victory over SMU, and Arkansas topped TCU 74-60 and Texas Tech downed Rice 71-61 in other SWC games. Mike Crumey hit for 22 points and Bob Brantley for 21 as Notre Dame (1-3) routed Butler 76-51.

Hope Drops a Pair in Play at Texarkana

Jefferson Avenue Junior High School of Texarkana took both games of a double header from Hope's Junior High Bobkittens yesterday afternoon at Jones Field House in a twin matinee bill.

The Junior Bobkittens went down by a 34 to 27 score while the Hope 7th and 8th graders were defeated 27 to 15.

A big third quarter enabled the Junior Razorbacks to pull away from the locals. In this period Texarkana outscored Hope 15-9. The visitors led at the half 14 to 12.

David Porterfield was the high scorer for Hope with 9 points while G. Sutton of Texarkana led all scorers with 12.

Other Hope scorers were Dan Jones with 6, and McLarty, Murphy and Purdie with 4 each.

The Senior boys and girls game scheduled with Waldo last night at Waldo were postponed until Thursday night because of travel and weather conditions.

Tonight the Junior Bobkittens resume play in the Elmore Invitational Tournament where they will meet Waldo in the second round.

Friday night Hope's Junior and senior boys journey to Nashville.

Mild Upset as Conference Play Starts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With just one mild upset, the Southwest Conference opened firing Tuesday night in its championship basketball campaign with all eight teams in the fighting.

The surging Texas Longhorns, playing their first championship game under new Coach Hal Breadley, staged the upset at Austin as they edged past Doc Hayes Southern Methodist Mustangs 58-56.

The other three games went about as expected with the conference favorites, Texas A&M, whipping Baylor 68-51 at College Station, Arkansas decisioning Texas Christian 74-60 at Fayetteville, and Texas Tech walloping Rice 71-61 at Lubbock.

The night's warfare was the end of hostilities until Saturday, when Texas A&M invades Fort Worth to play TCU. Arkansas plays Baylor at Waco, Texas plays Rice at Houston, and Texas Tech takes SMU at Dallas.

Big Jay Arnette's driving lay-up with one second remaining in the game won for the Longhorns in the night's only close contest. Texas' first conference victory over the Panthers since 1957.

Walter Marsh tied the score at 15-15 with 1:30 remaining. Then

Both Sides Look for Steel Cooperation

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industry and union officials looked forward today to cooperative efforts to boost steel production as formal signings ended their eight-month contract battle.

The United Steelworkers Union and the 11 Big Steel companies Tuesday signed the 30-month pact they hammered out in marathon negotiations last weekend. The union expects no difficulty in signing up 80-odd smaller companies.

"It's been a long struggle. It's over. We look forward to maximum cooperation to do the job we have ahead," said R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the companies.

Union head David J. McDonald chimed in. "If you think the American steel industry has been great, you ain't seen nothin' yet. Watch us do a job."

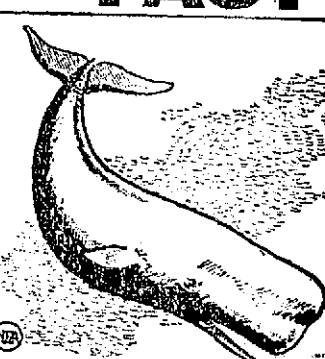

Union leaders at the signing ceremony cheered this hatchet-burying. Earlier they had given the Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell a thunderous ovation at a closed door union conference. Mitchell sat in on the final negotiations and has given Vice President Richard M. Nixon main credit for ending the eight-month contract deadlock.

Both the executive board and the larger wage policy committee of the union voted unanimous approval of the new agreement.

Some details of the agreement remained to be worked out, such as improvements in supplemental unemployment benefits.

It became apparent with an-

Asks Cotton Channels Be Rerouted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of the New York and New Orleans Exchanges asked the Agriculture Department today to consider proposals aimed at rerouting cotton through normal trade channels.

Under present law, they contend, the government support price for cotton has become the market price, there is no room for fluctuations and as a result there is virtually no trading on the cotton futures markets.

Morris Wolf, president of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, said after the group's 90-minute conference with Marvin McLean, assistant secretary of agriculture, that "we come away hopeful that something will be done."

He added, however, that McLean and other department officials made no commitment other than that they would study the matter.

The group's proposal involved a

Free Sub Rule Recommended for Football

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's college football coaches, required to both play and recruit the rules, were looking ahead today to the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., was expected to discipline one or more schools who have broken the rules of the NCAA code.

To next week, when fellow coaches who comprise the NCAA Football Rules Committee, meet in Miami Beach, to consider the American Football Coaches Assn.'s recommendation for a return to unlimited substitution.

There were 13 member schools under investigation by the committee on infractions as the 34th annual NCAA convention opened today with round table discussions.

How many of the investigations will result in action by the council was top secret. The NCAA never discloses identity of the schools, unless they are found guilty.

The number currently on probation was reduced to nine Tuesday when Memphis State completed a two-year probationary period, and the NCAA council, satisfied that the institution is living up to the athletic code, restored it to full eligibility. That means Memphis State, with a 7-1 record, will be eligible for an at-large berth in the annual postseason NCAA university division basketball tournament.

The football coaches, conducting their 37th annual meeting, will hear a report today from Lou Little, ex-Columbia coach and chairman of the AFCA football rules committee, in which it is recommended to the NCAA rules committee that free and unlimited substitution be permitted for the first time since 1932, the last of two-platoon seasons.

The coaches of the NCAA committee adopting the free substitution rule do not appear to be good. Of the eight coaches or former coaches on the committee, four are known to be opponents of free substitution. They are Dave Nelson of Delaware, Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, Jess Neely of Rice and John Rosing of Denver.

Other voting members are Norm Daniels of Wesleyan, Frank Howard of Clemson, Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin and Leo Harris of Oregon.

Coach Bob Boydland of Tennessee, committee chairman, votes only in case of ties. He is a member of the Old Guard who believes a football player should be complete, offensively and defensively.

NEW YORK (AP)—The college football coaches association today recommended free and unlimited substitution.

This is the rule used in professional football. It has not been used by the colleges since 1932, the last of the two-platoon seasons.

The recommendation of the AFCA Rules Committee will be presented to the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. next week in Miami Beach, Fla. The NCAA committee is in no way bound by the AFC recommendations.

The college football coaches also recommended keeping the goal posts 10 yards behind the goal line and retaining the present width of 23 feet 4 inches.

"A return to the two-platoon football is the easy way out," said Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist.

Four Illinois Students Back at College

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Four Illinois college students whose desires to see Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas led to a missed train in Little Rock and a hectic afternoon finally made it back to campus yesterday.

"The incident was played up pretty big around here," Bill Holmes, 18, of Wataga, Ill., told a newspaper. "Everybody seems to be talking about it. I wouldn't have missed it for a million dollars."

Holmes and three fellow students at Augustana College here, left a special passenger train at Little Rock Monday to see the governor. With Holmes was Kathy Tetzer, 19, of Geneva, Ill.; Clayton Smith, 21, of Stanton, Iowa; and J. Bowman, 19, of Kewanee, Ill. They saw the governor and got his autograph too. But they missed their train which was returning them from a youth conference in San Antonio.

The students telephoned Faubus who ordered a National Guard plane to fly them to Poplar Bluff, Mo., to catch the train. But, bad weather prevented a takeoff. Faubus called on State Police to drive them to Poplar Bluff, but roads were too icy.

They waited for a regularly scheduled train and finally made it Tuesday — although they missed a day of school.

New Peak for Corporate Profits

NEW YORK (UPI) — Corporate profits will hit a new all-time peak in 1960, studies by Standard & Poor's show.

The total is expected to exceed 27 billion dollars as against an estimated $23,000,000,000 in 1959, an increase of 15 per cent, the statistical research agency said.

With steel output expected to rise by 35-40 per cent, compared with an overall production increase of about 7 per cent, the earnings potential of this industry is exceptionally good.

The carryover of demand that could not be filled because of supply shortages in late 1959 will contribute to expanding earnings in automotive and metal fabricating lines, as well as in other steel-consuming industries, the agency reports.

Swift & Co. is a well-managed firm whose stock is selling substantially below its five-year average price-earnings ratio, says Van Alstyne, Noel & Co., which recommends purchase for immediate and long-range appreciation.

Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks & Co. believes Beckman Instruments technically has met standards necessary for recommendation and at the present time appears ready to stage a strong near-term upsurge.

Ex-Cons Charged With Kansas Slaying

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — Two ex-convicts were being returned today from Las Vegas, Nev., to face charges of murdering four members of the Herbert W. Chittler family.

Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents left Las Vegas Monday with Richard Eugene Hickock, 28, Edgerton, Kan., and Perry Edward Smith, 31, Las Vegas. They are expected to arrive here Wednesday.

Hickock has said in a signed statement that he and Smith killed Chittler, his wife, Bonnie, 45; a daughter, Nancy Mae, 16; and a son, Kanyon, 15 in their

SHE WILL NOT LEAVE — The face of 74-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Pretyjohn reflects the years that she has lived by the sea. It's too many years to leave, though her home, battered by the waves repeatedly, is the sole remaining building of the village of Hallsands, England, which was washed away in a 1917 storm. The rugged individualist has lived alone since the death of her brother six years ago.

OO THE HOSTAGE

BY CHARLES HENRY

By CHARLES HENRY
CHAPTER XXX

The rain, heavier now, drummed and splattered against the onrushing windshield. The highway ahead, though obscured from Davey's position on the seat, was a black torrent rushing toward them out of the dense night. Davey sat, his eyes riveted in fear on the dark man hunched powerfully over the wheel. Even he, in his limited experience, sensed that this mad flight was a part of no reasonable plan but only the extension of some dreadful destruction which had begun home west of Garden City Nov. 15.

County Atty. Duane West said Smith made an oral statement admitting participation in the slayings.

in the dark reaches of the man's mind long before he, Davey, had been caught up in it. He sat and saluted, too numb with fright even to move.

The cab reeked with the fumes of liquor. Soon after they had started out, the man had taken a new bottle from the compartment behind the seat, and in the difficult maneuver of opening it and drinking from it while still driving, he had dropped it. Trying to recover it, he had maneuvered to right it again, the contents of the bottle had emptied out on the floor. Looking up from this disaster, his gaze had raked Davey's small cowering figure with all the eloquence of a shouted oath.

Davey was not able to understand everything the man said, only that it had to do with the blond man and himself and a lot of other people, a lot of girls, who had tried to make a fool of him. He was going to show the whole lousy, stinking bunch of them. And then Davey heard himself referred to, and in such a way that he realized that he was somehow to play an important role in some terrible plan of violence that would make everybody see that the dark man was nobody to mess around with. Dropping his gaze to the speedometer, Davey saw that the needle had now risen above the 30 mile-an-hour mark and was edging fretfully upward.

And then the muttering began. With the sound of the truck motor in his ears, Davey was unable to understand everything that the man said, only that it had to do with the blond man and other people who had tried to make a fool of him.

They were headed back toward the city. He knew because after leaving the country roads and joining the highway, they had passed through a small settlement of houses and stores that his father had told him was a place called Westbury. Since then, however, the miles had sped away beneath them. Westbury, by now, was far, far behind.

The sound came thinly from the distance, like a small, anguished cry, and Davey, because he had heard it so often before in the city, knew at once it was a siren. The man had heard it, too, for his hands tensed instantly on the wheel, and his shoulders hunched forward a bit closer. His foot relaxed on the accelerator, but only in preparation to closing down upon it even harder. The needle leaped to 35, then reached for 40.

"Cops," the dark man muttered. His hand moved to the pocket of his jacket. "They'll find out."

The din of the motor became louder, angrier, a throbbing physical pressure against Davey's ears. The siren seemed to wane a fall behind. Then it grew stronger again, coming gradually closer. Finally, it was nearly upon them, and for an interval they continued at the same speed, the rain and the night hurling themselves upon them in a mad blur. The siren persisted doggedly just behind them, and they began to slow down. The needle dropped back to 30, then 20, 10. Davey saw with astonishment that the dark man was grinning.

As they edged out to the side of the highway and stopped, the siren, becoming its mournful downward vibrations, pulled up ahead and rolled over in front of them. Leaving the motor running, the dark man reached out and rolled down the window. Davey saw that the right hand now rested in his lap holding the gun. The rain against the windshield and the beat of the cab had quieted to a soft steady patterning.

Davey craned upward trying to

Stuttgart Man Files for Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joe Morrison of Stuttgart today filed as a candidate for 4th District chancellor next summer.

The incumbent, Lawrence Dawson of Pine Bluff, is serving by appointment is not eligible to seek an elected term.

Morrison several years ago served in the position by appointment. The district is composed of Arkansas, Cleveland, Jefferson and Lincoln Counties.

Symington Not an Avowed Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri said today he is not an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and is not entering any primaries.

But, under questioning at a news conference, Symington said he would take no action to withdraw his name from the Oregon presidential preference primary May 20, although he would not do any campaigning there.

Under the Oregon system, a potential candidate's name can be put on the ballot without his consent. Names of all major possibilities for the Democratic nomination are expected to be on the ballot.

Symington called the news conference for the announced purpose of answering any questions newsmen might have about his recent trip to Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Claims Action for Good of Children

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden says it was for his four children's sake that he took them to the South Pacific in violation of a court order.

"I had to make a choice between being in contempt of court or becoming in contempt of the children's best interests," he told Superior Court Judge Emil Gumpert Tuesday.

Gumpert will rule Thursday on Hayden's plea of guilty to contempt of court.

Hayden took the youngsters, ranging in age from 7 to 11, on a 10-month schooner voyage to Tahiti last year. The judge had granted the actor custody but had forbidden him to take the children out of California.

Miss Betty de Noon Hayden, his ex-wife, contended the schooner might be unsafe. She is battling for custody.

The couple was divorced in 1955.

see out ahead but his attention was drawn back to the dark man, who sat with tense watchfulness, his hand inclined toward the open window. Outside, a car door slammed and footsteps sounded on the pavement, coming toward them.

The dark man raised the gun toward the window. "What's the trouble?" he called out into the darkness.

As the footsteps came closer, Davey pushed himself up into a kneeling position on the seat. Peering out through the window, he saw someone coming briskly forward through the darkness. The dark man raised the muzzle of the gun up onto the sill. Davey's throat contracted, and he knew he was going to cry out. And then, just in the moment when the cry touched his lips, the gun barked thunderously, spitting flame into the night. It barked a second time, and a third. In the ensuing silence even the sound of the rain was lost.

The dark man swung around, rolling up the window. "Sit down you!" he snapped.

Releasing the brake, he gunned the motor, and Davey was hurled back and down into the seat.

As they passed the police car, the glow of its spotlights reached up to them, and for a moment the falling droplets outside were turned to crimson.
